Frank H. Sweet, Appomattox County Extension Agent, received a certificate and pin in recognition of his 10 years of service with the Virginia Cooperative Extension Service.

There is nothing quite as satisfying as a good "standing" crop.

But a destructive hailstorm can ruin that crop in seconds. High winds can severely damage a dwelling, barn, or other building. Lightning loss is a big concern at this time of year.

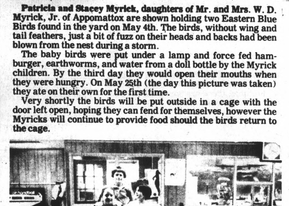
Patricia and Stacey Myrick, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Myrick, Jr. of Appomattox are shown holding two Eastern Blue Birds found in the yard on May 4th. The birds, without wing and tail feathers, just a bit of fuzz on their heads and backs had been blown from the nest during a storm.

The baby birds were put under a lamp and force fed hamburger, earthworms, and water from a doll bottle by the Myrick children. By the third day they would open their mouths when they were hungry. On May 25th (the day this picture was taken) they ate on their own for the first time.

Very shortly the birds will be put outside in a cage with the door left open, hoping they can fend for themselves, however the Myricks will continue to provide food should the birds return to the cage.



ACHS Art Students Complete Project

The Appomattox County High School Art Students worked on gifted and talented project using their talents to paint the new wall divider between the clinic and the Guidance Department at ACHS.

Michelle Paulette, Jill Franklin and Elizabeth Coffey painted the seascape in the clinic room and Erma Austin, Richard Guill, and Diane Franklin painted the yellow brick road with career choices for the guidance office.

THE FESTIVAL OF THE ARTS, sponsored by the Appomattox County High School Art Department, held Sunday afternoon, May 20th, was a real success and was enjoyed by all who attended.

Take care of your tires.
At any speed, a tire failure can be hazardous. You have an obligation to yourself, your family and other drivers to prevent tire-failure accidents.
Be on the lookout for possible trouble — cuts, cracks, uneven wear, cupping and inflation problems. Rotate tires every 5,000 miles. Inspect them often; remove rocks, nails or glass that is jammed between tread grooves.
Most important, don't drive on tires you aren't sure of.
